LONDON (AP)—The United Kingdom Atomic Energy Authority said today Britain will explode a nuclear device underground in Nevada "during the next week or two."

The device is understood to be a component of a nuclear warhead. The explosion will be in the low kiloton range.

The blast will be Britain's first atomic test in four years.

U.K.'S V-BOMBERS AS GOOD AS ANY

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain's nuclear-armed V-bomber force is capable of reaching its target and causing "devastating" damage to an enemy in the event of war, Air Minister Julian Amery reported today.

Amery made the statement in a memorandum accompanying the annual air force financial estimates to Parliament for 1962-63.

The bombers, flying fast and high and equipped with the latest electronic devices to counter enemy defences, "compare favorably with the bomber aircraft which constitute the main nuclear striking force of other powers," he said.

French, Moslem Officers Bitter

Times News Services

ALGIERS—Both French and Moslem officers reacted bitterly today to a government plan to demobilize 140,000 Algerian Moslems wearing the French uniform.

The government move was an obvious sign of its confidence that an Algerian cease-fire is imminent. But it posed a possible internal crisis in the French Army in Algeria at a time when it faces a test by the right-wing European Secret Army Organization, pledged to keep Algeria French.

The Algerian rebel national council, meanwhile, met in secret session in Tripoli, Libya, for the second day to consider the tentative accord with France for a cease-fire clearing the way for Algerian independence. France endorsed the accord Wednesday night.

President Charles de Gaulle's government announced plans Thursday for progressive demobilization of Moslems serving in the French Army and said they will be given bonuses and pensions and offered the opportunity to re-enlist or resettle in France.

Gen. Charles Ailleret, the supreme commander in Algeria, vowed that the "legitimate interests" of Moslems who have served France will be guaranteed. But the announcement was seen as a personal tragedy for many Moslem soldiers. "They're paying us off, we are no longer needed," bitterly commented one Moslem officer. In Oran today new clashes erupted between Europeans and Moslems after Moslems cut the throats of three Europeans and a fellow Moslem.

INSISTS ON SUMMIT

K's Letter Dampens Hope Of Agreement

WASHINGTON (AP)—A tough new 20-page message from Soviet Premier Khrushchev, insisting that President Kennedy agree to a March summit meeting, chilled U.S. hopes today for any kind of successful negotiations with Russia at the forthcoming Geneva conference.

The letter, delivered to the state department Thursday, also raised grave suspicion among officials here that Khrushchev is trying to use the approaching conference as a device to prevent Kennedy from ordering a new series of atmospheric nuclear tests.

The state department forwarded an English translation of the letter to the White House late Thursday a little more than two hours after Kennedy left for Florida. Presumably, his special assistant, McGeorge Bundy, relayed it to the president immediately.

The United States planned to start immediate consultation with Britain and other allies on a Kennedy reply to Khrushchev's letter. The state department formally rejected Khrushchev's insistence on a summit Thursday night.

The statement said the U.S. government feels its proposal to open disarmament talks with Continued on Page 2

OVER BORDER

Youngest brother of the U.S. president, Edward (Ted) Kennedy, today paid an unscheduled two-hour visit to East Berlin and had American officials worried for a time. He had said he would be gone for only an hour. Eventually he strolled back across the border and calmly announced: "We just walked around."

Russ Tighten Economy Plan

MOSCOW (AP)—Russia disclosed today it has taken a major step to tighten and improve its economic planning. In a front-page editorial, the Communist party newspaper Pravda said "councils of coordination and planning" have been established in all of the country's major economic regions, except the virgin land territories of Kazakhstan.

Bereaved Man Target Of Fluoride Foes

VANCOUVER (CP)—A father told a coroner's inquiry today that after his three-year-old son died suddenly in a dentist's chair he was mailed anti-fluoridation pamphlets from the Pure Food Guild of British Columbia and anonymous crank letters from anti-fluoridationists.

After the testimony Thursday by William Tonner whose son Christopher died while under anaesthesia in the office of dentist Dr. T. R. Elliott Feb. 13, coroner Glen McDonald said mailing of the pamphlets was the act of a "despicable person."

He said he would hand the anonymous and crank letters to police, including one from Kingston, Ont., inquiring how much fluoride young Christopher had received.

Pure Foods Guild President Edward Moxey told reporters later that he had mailed the pamphlets to Mr. Tonner after reading of the boy's death.

Tonner, who said his son had received liquid fluoride every day to protect his teeth, quoted one letter as saying: "You and thousands of others are condemning your children to an early death by these ungodly methods."

Pathologist Dr. T. R. Harmon said an autopsy showed no buildup or trace of fluoride in the boy's vital organs.

'Fiery Splinters Raced By'

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. reported today he had a "spectacular re-entry" through the atmosphere which gave him an "uneasy moment" near the end of his triple orbit flight about the earth Tuesday.

He said he was concerned because he did not know whether fiery splinters racing past his window were from a disintegrating reverse-rocket package or from a damaged heat shield.

The latter would have been disastrous, because the heat shield was his major protection from being consumed in the fiery re-entry heat of between 3,000 and 4,000 degrees.

Glenn told a press conference that a trouble signal toward the end of the flight convinced Project Mercury officials he should leave the braking rockets in place at the blunt front end of the capsule to be sure that he did not lose what at the time appeared to be a loose heat shield. The heat shield protects the space craft from burning up during the enormous friction and heat in re-entering the atmosphere.

As it turned out later, there was no danger. A false signal had been received at the control centre.

But it provided a "spectacular re-entry," Glenn said. The straps which held the braking rockets in place broke loose as the capsule dropped into the earth's atmosphere and Glenn felt a bump on the side of the capsule.

Looking out his window he saw a bright orange glow as the front of the capsule heated up.

He saw pieces of the retro or braking rockets flowing past his window—some as big as the end of a finger—others up to eight inches long and all of them flaming as they broke off the front edge of the capsule.

He earlier told the conference that he had suffered no ill effects during the prolonged weightlessness of his orbital flight.

In fact, he said, "it was very pleasant."

"I had no trouble at all reaching switches or controlling the capsule in zero gravity weightlessness," he said.

As an example, he said, about 30 or 45 minutes after launching he was taking pictures with a hand camera and wanted to do some switch work.

"I simply put the camera out and let it float in mid-air, inside the capsule. I did the switch work and then went back to the camera."

100,000 Cheer Astronaut Hero

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—President Kennedy gave astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. a medal today for his historic flight around the world and said for the American people, "we appreciate it."

It was a simple ceremony before Hangar S, the area where the 40-year-old marine lieutenant-colonel lived and trained for his flight Tuesday three times around the world in four hours and 56 minutes.

Afterwards, Glenn and the president stood before the museum-bound space capsule "Friendship 7" and Glenn told Kennedy of his flight, especially the re-entry phase.

In presenting Glenn the Distinguished Service Medal of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Kennedy said "17 years ago the marines planted the American flag on Mount Suribachi (Iwo Jima) and maybe in the not too distant future, Col. Glenn and the marine corps, or a navy man or an airman will plant the American flag on the moon."

Glenn told a press conference that a trouble signal toward the end of the flight convinced Project Mercury officials he should leave the braking rockets in place at the blunt front end of the capsule to be sure that he did not lose what at the time appeared to be a loose heat shield. The heat shield protects the space craft from burning up during the enormous friction and heat in re-entering the atmosphere.

Rail, Union Talks Collapse

MONTREAL (CP)—Contract talks between Canada's railways and their 110,000 non-operating employees have collapsed, it was learned today.

No details of the breakdown were made public immediately, but it was expected that the 15 C.L.C.-affiliated non-ops unions will seek a federal conciliation to study the dispute.

The breakdown came almost without warning.

Company and union negotiating teams resumed talks at 10 a.m. EST today and both parties stalked out of the room 50 minutes later.

Both groups immediately left for their respective headquarters to draft statements.

JOB SECURITY CAUSE?

It was reported unofficially that the chief cause of the breakdown was what the union considers as completely inadequate a company job security proposal.

The company presented a package proposal, still not made public, a month ago.

The unions have been considering this proposal since then and entered today's meeting seeking clarification of several points.

Frank Hall, veteran leader of the non-ops negotiating team, rejoined the talks after a brief absence caused by a minor illness while he was visiting a son in Galveston, Texas.

The non-ops, employees not involved in the actual running of trains, originally demanded a virtual job freeze, a 22-cent-an-hour wage increase and other fringe benefits. They now earn an average of $1.91 an hour.

A brief outline of the railways' proposals said the railways would give severance pay to all employees with more than eight, but less than 20 years' service who were laid off for more than one month.

For employees with more than 20 years' seniority, the railways would guarantee work or income.

An indefinite wage increase was "contemplated" provided the work security program, severance pay and improvements in health and welfare benefits could be agreed upon.

This fell far short of the union demands.

Argue in as Liberal Says Ottawa Report

(Times Ottawa Bureau)

OTTAWA—The Liberal caucus met today to consider Hazen Argue's entry into party ranks and Opposition Leader Pearson scheduled a press conference later today.

It appeared certain that Mr. Argue has been accepted as a Liberal M.P.

Earlier today, Mr. Pearson and Mr. Argue held private talks.

The meeting with Mr. Pearson was held at Mr. Argue's request.

"It was our first direct contact. I have never before talked or met with Mr. Argue about his plans to leave the New Democratic Party," said Mr. Pearson.

"The meeting was at my request," Mr. Argue declared. "We discussed the situation. While no formal arrangements have been made there will be further developments and I will let you know as soon as we are ready to make an announcement."

Centennial Flashback...

FEBRUARY 23

It was reported here that the Barclay Sound copper claim had been "jumped" by speculators, who have emptied the land on either side of the island on which the vein is located. The original prospectors intend to appeal to the governor to quash the pre-emption.

The copper claim on the southern end of Queen Charlotte's island appears to be faring better, as the schooner Alpha has been chartered to take 12 experienced miners and supplies to the workings. Included in the Alpha's cargo will be 3,700 feet of lumber, to be used in building cabins for the miners.

A concert for the benefit of the Royal Hospital is scheduled for tomorrow evening, under the patronage of Capt. Spencer and officers of HMS Topaze.

Power Showdown Planned By Tshombe, UN Charges

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP)—The United Nations accused President Moise Tshombe today of preparing for a new military showdown in the Congo.

It expressed doubt at the Katanga president's good faith in seeking a peaceful settlement with the rest of the Congo. In sharp departure from a recent atmosphere of conciliation and confidence concerning Katanga, the UN said Tshombe's military action in North-Katanga violates conditions laid down by the United Nations.

Reliable sources said the central government is airlifting troops toward the north Katanga town of Albertville in anticipation of an all-out attack by Katanga's gendarmerie. Tshombe's troops reoccupied the town of Kongolo early this week after central government forces had withdrawn.

The UN said it intends to send a military mission to Kongolo without delay despite Tshombe's opposition.

The United Nations charges were made in a sarcastic and tough statement handed to reporters by headquarters spokesman Dik Lehmkuhl.

"It has become noticeable that Mr. Tshombe's conciliatory attitude is giving way to calculated opposition to UN policies and actions in Katanga," it said. It charged Tshombe with:

"Having the (Katanga) assembly neither accept nor reject the Katanga declaration (to end Katanga secession) but ask for further negotiations based on the 'spirit of the declaration'."

"Reacting generally to the operations in North Katanga while refusing movement of UN troops into Kipushi, Kolwezi and Jadotville to prevent the reentry of mercenaries."

DOUK WOMEN ATTACK NEWSMEN, CONSTABLE

NELSON (CP) — Charges against two women members of the radical Sons of Freedom Doukhobor sect in connection with a power pole bombing were dropped Thursday at a special assize court sitting here.

Elizabeth Alice Legebokoff and Molly Perepolkin fell into the arms of their husbands, kissing and hugging them.

The husbands, Pete Legebokoff and George Perepolkin, with brothers Mike and Larry Laren, are charged with bombing a power pole near here last December and illegal explosives possession.

Earlier Thursday, a newspaper reporter, photographer and an RCMP constable were attacked by a crowd outside the courthouse.

Nelson News reporter Ron Darling said the attack was led by Shirley Folstrom, a non-Doukhobor woman, the fiancée of Mike Laren.

Shortly before the attack, Miss Folstrom told the court she was married to Mike Laren and could not testify against him.

The court ruled the woman was not Laren's wife and would testify, even as a hostile witness.

COMMON ECONOMY

Canada, U.S. Tie-Up Seen by City Lawyer

Establishment of a European Common Market could lead to a similar economic tie-up between Canada and the United States within a few years, Victoria lawyer M. L. Tyrwhitt Drake said here Thursday night.

In an address to the B.C. Historical Association, Victoria branch, Mr. Drake said Britain's proposal to join the ECM could result in a common economy embracing the whole North American continent.

"It would be a logical development, since Canada and the United States already have a common defence system," he said.

Mr. Drake said this possibility was clearly foreseen by British Columbia legislators of the 1960s who wanted to join the United States instead of entering confederation with Canada.

"Those early legislators saw the future much more clearly than did the statesmen of Eastern Canada at that time. They knew that British Columbia could not survive on its own."

Mr. Drake said events since the war have justified the much-misplaced attitude taken by B.C. legislators in the 1960s.

"There is every indication that Canada and the U.S. will develop a common economy similar to that of Europe."

foreign ministers, with the possibility of a summit session later on "is the proper one and the one best designed to lead to orderly progress in the disarmament negotiations."

In the letters to President Kennedy and Prime Minister Macmillan published today, the Soviet premier accused the United States and British leaders of playing "a kind of disarmament game" by refusing to close down foreign bases and withdraw their troops from Europe.

"The Soviet Union is prepared to recall home, right now, its troops stationed abroad, if the Western powers do the same."

He told the Western leaders he is "grieved" by their refusal to take part in a summit conference on disarmament in Geneva next month, said he hoped they "have not yet said their final word."

SAYS NOT CONVINCED

Khrushchev described as "unconvincing Kennedy's argument that extensive work must be done to clarify positions before disarmament can be achieved."

He said 15 years of negotiations, meetings and contacts have complete disarmament under been spent to study and clarify the provisions of international control each other's positions, and he carried out the provisions of the treaty in stages so that control is commensurate to the situation taking shape in the security of any state.

Conformist Papers Escape Africa Ban

CAPETOWN (Reuters) — Proposed legislation under an "undesirable publications" bill will not apply to newspapers in the South African Newspaper Press Union, it was announced Thursday.

Interior Minister Jan de Klerk said a parliamentary committee recommended exclusion of Press Union newspapers because of a self-imposed discipline code proposed by the union.

The bill prohibits the production and dissemination of publications harmful to public morals, relations between any section of the population, or the safety of the state.

Mrs. Jennings' Funeral Set For Saturday

Funeral services will be held Saturday for Mrs. Mary P. Jennings who died Thursday in Gorge Road Hospital after a long illness. She was 69.

Mrs. Jennings was born in London, England, and came to Victoria in 1923.

An active community worker, she was instrumental in founding the Vancouver Island chapter of the Multiple Sclerosis Society and assisted in the Boy Scout movement in Oak Bay.

She also participated in the rebuilding of the Meichosin Community Hall.

A widow of the late G. F. W. Jennings, she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. J. M. (Dorothy) Parker of Vancouver; four sons, T. A. Jennings of Alberta, Robert and Michael Jennings of Vancouver and Gordon Jennings of Victoria; 13 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

The service will be conducted by Canon Hywel Jones and Archdeacon A. E. de L. Nunn in St. Mary's Anglican Church at 2 p.m., followed by interment at Royal Oak Cemetery.

PM'S REPLY INCLUDES SARCASTIC 'HONORABLE'

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker put a sarcastic inflection on the word "honorable" today in replying to a Commons question by Lucien Cardin (L-Richelieu-Vercheres).

Mr. Cardin Thursday described Mr. Diefenbaker as a demagogue who toys with the truth and said the prime minister has never forgiven Opposition Leader Pearson for winning the Nobel Peace Prize in 1957. (See Page 5).

Mr. Cardin today asked about reports of trade discussions in Havana between Canadian and Cuban authorities.

Mr. Diefenbaker said in reply to the "honorable" member that there have been such discussions involving Canada and other NATO countries.

HOUSE ROUNDUP

'Cruel Contracts' Barring Over-40s

Social Credit MLA Alex Matthew Thursday called on governments to take the lead in ensuring jobs for people over 40.

The Vancouver Centre MLA told the legislature, "It is a crime that when a man reaches 40 he is told that he's too old and there are no jobs for him."

He said industry is partly to blame for "cruel, iron-clad contracts."

"I accuse governments, both federal and provincial of going along with it."

"I accuse governments of doing the same thing in hiring their employees."

Governments should take the lead and set regulations protecting over-40s.

Mr. Matthew also called on the B.C. government to set up a royal commission into unemployment.

B.C. newspaper articles are "slanted" for political reasons, a Sacred MLA charged.

R. O. Newton (S.C.—Columbia) told the legislature the newspapers, specifically those in Vancouver, are not telling "B.C.'s story."

"Many of the articles you read in the papers for political reasons are slanted," he said.

"If they would tell the truth, they're very glad to sell their papers throughout the province and get their dimes, but when it comes to anything else they seem to think the boundaries of B.C. stop at Harrison Hot Springs."

The Rogers Pass section of the Trans-Canada Highway will be open July 30, Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi said.

Opening of this section between Revelstoke and Banff, and bypassing the Big Bend Highway, will complete the Trans-Canada route.

Mr. Gagliardi also announced that he had hoped the Deas Island Thruway to the U.S. border will be finished by May 30 and allow Premier Bennett to win a $1 bet with Washington Governor Albert Rosellini that B.C. would get a new road to the border before the U.S.

There are people who look upon capital city beautification with a profit motive, John Squire (NDP-CCF-Alberni) charged.

He decried in the budget debate attempts to make Victoria look "just like any other city" with erection of high-rise apartment buildings around its beauty spots like Beacon Hill Park.

"I've come to like Victoria very much," he said, "but I see things the permanent residents do not."

"What point is there in grants to make the capital city beautiful—roads and parks, for example—then have some one build eight and 12-storey apartments overlooking Beacon Hill?"

"It is time people had more to say in the spending of the grants. I disagree with those who say it's their right to build a big building just so its occupants can have a good view of the park," the member said.

A 10-year "no-strike" pact made by 17 international unions and Peace Power Constructors Ltd. to develop Peace River power won't work, Mr. Squire said.

He said the master contract to ensure working stability, which was negotiated by the company and Allied Hydro Council, representing the unions, would be too complex to operate.

Mr. Squire said it would be impossible to negotiate in one contract such diverse conditions as travelling time and living allowances for all the unions involved.

Japan Reported Bitter Over Trade Restrictions

By VICTOR MACKIE Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Reports that the Japanese authorities are becoming embittered by the efforts of the Canadian government to keep a tight lid on exports from their country to Canada were raised in the Commons today.

The Japanese are known to resent the Canadian government's determination to hold down on Japanese sales in this country despite a continuing sharp increase in Canadian sales to Japan.

Liberal leader Pearson asked the government to comment on the reports that have been leaking out of the current Japanese-Canadian trade negotiations.

In the absence of Trade Minister Hees, the acting minister, Gordon Churchill, said he would draw the matter to Mr. Hees' attention.

Fernie Pays Tom Uphill Last Tribute

FERNIE (CP) — A chilly wind from the mountains licked the shoulders of mourners in this little eastern British Columbia mining village Thursday as Tom Uphill, their representative in the legislature for 40 years, was buried.

Nearly 1,000 persons stalked through 20-degree weather from a funeral chapel to Christ Church and then followed the hearse to the cemetery.

Mr. Uphill died in Burnaby, near Vancouver, last Saturday. He was 86.

We'll All Use A-Arms If ...

EDMONTON (CP) — Defence Minister Harkness said today Canada would use nuclear arms in the event of a major war.

He told a press conference there is no federal government indecision on nuclear policy.

"If there is a war," he said, "we'll need the best weapons we can arm ourselves with. We have taken the precaution of building a weapons system to handle nuclear arms."

Asked if he would lend either financial or moral support to any peace research institute, Mr. Harkness said:

"There are all kinds of societies and organizations dedicated to peace and I don't plan on looking into it."

MLA WANTS SHARP EYE ON PENSIONERS' RENT

Climbing rents for old age pensioners may have to be throttled back by legislation, Vancouver Centre's Alex Matthews said in the legislature Thursday.

The Social Credit member noted there are "quite a number of pensioners" in his constituency who are concerned because some rents have already gone up in anticipation of increased supplementary allowances to people on the old age pension.

UNDERWATER LAUNCHER LACKING

Russ Reveal Rocket Sub

MOSCOW (AP)—Russia today published for the first time a picture of one of its rocket-carrying submarines.

The description indicated that it can not fire underwater like U.S. Polaris submarines.

The picture, appearing in the Soviet military newspaper, Red Star, shows two rockets on what appears to be the stern of the submarine. The caption with the picture reads:

"Here it is as it appeared on the surface, surprising the enemy, and raising its containers over the water — the fiery arrows of the rocket irresistibly swoop towards their target."

During the last year, Soviet leaders have claimed that rocket-carrying submarines are the backbone of the Red fleet. But they have never disclosed whether the rockets can be fired underwater.

Times Legislative Reporter

Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi Thursday delivered a sermon to the legislature on the evils of drink and bad driving.

He came up with his own manual called "A Driver's Guide to Better Driving Habits."

(Six times convicted of traffic offences himself, Mr. Gaglardi is still suspended from driving.)

He said instead of putting people in jail, there should be more education on drink and driving.

"You can't legislate sobriety nor can you legislate morality," he said.

Then he delivered a lecture on both subjects.

His driving manual, including admonitions not to change lanes or nor to hold up drivers who want to go the speed limit, drew titters from the Opposition.

WHAT'S SO FUNNY?

"What was all the joke about? What's the matter with that?" he demanded indignantly.

"The most mild, consistent, courteous individual sometimes becomes the opposite when he gets behind the wheel of a car," said Mr. Gaglardi.

"Some positive, effective manner should be employed to create a change in thinking, in psychology of the minds of drivers."

When he finished reading his 10 commandments for good driving, Arthur Turner (NDP-CPE—Vancouver East) called: "You're not in competition with Moses, are you?"

"It may be a joke to you, but a life to me is a pretty serious thing," replied Mr. Gaglardi.

His hope for a driver was: "I'd like to see him go home and enjoy a smorgasbord instead of lying on a board in a morgue."

MORE ACCIDENTS

Mr. Gaglardi said there are good, new highways "shooting all over the province" and yet accident rates are not declining.

He said 96 per cent of all accidents were not attributable to either vehicle or highway.

"It's safe to assume 96 per cent are attributable to the driver."

He added: "We must of necessity turn our attention on the driver, and perhaps do something about him."

"I'm not going to suggest bringing in some strange restrictions to hem the driver in," said Mr. Gaglardi.

TEACH THEM YOUNG

The thing to do was educate. And do it as young as possible.

"If we wish to smoke ourselves into a smokestack, that should be our privilege. But if we know what the facts and statistics are we should do our own deciding. It should be the same with alcohol."

Mr. Gaglardi said some experts blamed alcohol for 80 per cent of accidents. U.S. figures blamed between 50 and 60 per cent of accidents on drink.

Other statistics showed that for every one person who died after being bitten by a mad dog, 10,000 died from alcoholism.

"Yet we shoot the mad dog and licence the alcohol,"

Psoriasis New "Break Through"

A new lotion, now appearing in Canadian drug stores shows great promise as a palliative for the skin condition known as psoriasis. The ingredients, among which is 5-Glyoxylic acid and a Pico Carbonic solution usually employed separately by skin specialists, combined, these chemicals have been brought together in a stainless, pleasant to use, economical lotion. It will be sold without prescription and marketed under the trade name of Psorinyl.

City council Thursday expressed concern regarding rumors that Victoria will lose the B.C. Power Commission staff and the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry Regiment.

Aldermen asked Mayor R. B. Wilson to find out if the BCPC staff would be moved to Vancouver under the province's proposed merger of B.C. Electric and the BCPC.

They also decided to wire local MPs George Chatterton and A. deB. McPhillips asking them to find out if the Princess Pats will be transferred to Toronto as part of a rumored rotation move bringing the Queen's Own Rifles here.

Mayor Wilson also was asked to request that the permanent army training depot in Edmonton be transferred to Victoria if feasible.

All three items were raised by Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow.

Behind the Grey Walls

THE Land Registry has moved from the old Courthouse to the new. The courts are following. The high-ceilinged halls where the mills of law ground slowly and the air grew heavy and stale are being left to memories.

These are the rooms sometimes packed with high drama, sometimes dozing through the droning argument of dull civil actions, occasionally ringing to fine legal rhetoric, often muted by the almost whispered story of human degradation.

Here generations of judges have left their imprint, small or large, on the history of jurisprudence in our province—and often the impact of their personalities on reporters who covered the events.

Stott

In Court of Appeal, in the topmost room that would have made a good badminton court with the furniture removed, the eminent justices have displayed the dignity of Canadian justice in operation. In the same court, nearly 30 years ago, a chief justice and his brother judge bickered in squabbles that shocked legal circles and public alike.

Here, one morning in the early forties, the bar welcomed Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald, on his elevation from Supreme Court, with tributes so touching the jurist could not speak. His eyes grew moist, his head bowed. An agony of embarrassment claimed the court.

The jurist's head came up slowly, a twisted grin on his lips.

Before he left home that morning, he explained, his wife had worried about his reaction to the welcoming ceremony. "The last thing she said," he reported, "was 'For goodness sake, Dave, don't cry.' The embarrassment dissolved.

Here a young and brilliant former Liberal attorney-general began duties on the bench while under 40 and later presided as Chief Justice Gordon Sloan over a harmonious court until his resignation to become B.C.'s top forestry authority.

From the same bench fell the mellowed cadence of speech by Chief Justice Malcolm A. Macdonald, one of the polished formal orators of the West.

Before it appeared as counsel young men who have since gone to the judiciary, Mr.

Justice Davey, Mr. Justice H. O'Halloran, Mr. Justice Rutlan, Mr. Justice Wootton, Judge Clearhue, Judge Henry Castillon, and a host of others.

Here were argued final chapters in the George brothers murder trial—where even the defence skill of veteran Stuart Henderson could not stay execution.

Across the corridor judges of the circuit presided in Supreme and Assize Courts. There the trial lawyers matched mettle. There the events seemed more closely related to flesh and blood—murder trials, crimes of violence, intricate civil actions, probate approvals, divorce court, where justice was so frequently tailored from shoddy material.

This was the courtroom of ebullient Aulay McAulay Morrison, C.J., a man of sharp mind and often sharper tongue; of fatherly Denis Murphy, of austere Harold Robertson, of resident Justice Arthur D. Macfarlane, of a relatively young deepsea captain, Sydney Smith, who took over Admiralty from Chief Justice Martin and, in the taking, removed the last wig from a presiding judicial head in British Columbia.

There a young reporter listened to the gruesome details of homicide, and in 10 years from 1934, heard only one person sentenced to death—a colored gentleman with an alphabetical name who chanted: "O death, where is thy sting?" O grave, where is thy victory?

There a young man heard the arts of persuasion refined in addresses to juries; watched successful counsel take calculated risks and usually win their gambles; learned, as probably nowhere else he could have learned, that things are not black and white and that logic can be refuted by logic.

Below, in County Court, a less reserved atmosphere prevailed. Under Judge Peter Second "Pete" Lampman, there was dignity with humanity. With Judge H. H. Shandley there were both, and happy occasions of riotous humor as Victoria became acquainted with "Rent Court" in the war years.

Memories of those days of former triumph and disaster, of human failings and achievement, of great abilities at law and less admirable performances linger in the rooms now being vacated.

They rise in retrospect to gleam briefly, like dust motes in the sun streaming through the old Courthouse western windows on drowsy afternoons—things of the past, but not entirely forgotten, nor yet confined within the stiff covers of law reports.

ENTRY BIDS POUR IN AS RESTRICTIONS EASED

NEW YORK (CP) — Canadian Immigration offices here have received a flood of applications to enter Canada following the easing of restrictions with regard to race and nationality.

H. W. P. Thomson, officer in charge of the immigration office here, said Thursday: "The new liberalization policy went into effect Feb. 1. Since then we've had applications from citizens of India, Pakistan, Cuba, Venezuela and Chinese people."

Home Closure Faces More In-Fighting

Letters for and against decision to close Mountain View Home and offers to help relocate the 26 aged men were referred by city council Thursday to its welfare committee.

On a recorded vote, council refused to reconsider its decision to close the home. Reconsideration had been asked by Aldermen Geoffrey Edgell, Michael Griffin and A. W. Toone, the trio that opposed closure at the previous meeting.

PETITION CHECKED

A petition of some 250 names opposing closing of the home was to be checked to determine how many signatures involved city residents.

David Hummel, on behalf of a 64-bed private hospital opening May 1, offered to reserve an entire wing for accommodating the 26 men from Mountain View as a group.

FULL DEBATE

Council authorized a research project to try tracing terms of numerous small bequests to Mountain View Home, totalling more than $13,000, which has been included in the entertainment fund for inmates.

A full debate on the home is expected at welfare committee meeting next week which probably will see all aldermen attend.

Hospital Annex?

Canadian Legion officials here suggested Thursday that city-owned Mountain View Home for aged men should be taken over by the federal government as an annex to Veterans' Hospital.

Col. R. B. Longridge was appointed chairman of a committee to approach the council and federal government.

An announcement said: "The Victoria and District Zone Council of the Royal Canadian Legion endorsed in principle the immediate taking over of Mountain View Home as an annex to the Veterans' Hospital for Class 29 (institutional care) patients owing to the overcrowding at Veterans' Hospital."

"Part of the Veterans' Hospital was built for and is equipped for remedial treatment and corrective surgery and is now occupied by an overflow of Class 29 patients."

Soviet Admits Existence Of Spy Abel

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet government Thursday acknowledged for the first time the existence of convicted spy, Col. Rudolph Abel, who was exchanged by the United States for U-2 pilot Francis Gary Powers.

After years of public silence on Abel, the government newspaper Izvestia disclosed to the Russian people that he had been released when it printed a letter from his wife and daughter thanking Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev for arranging his freedom.

The letter, dated Feb. 19, did not pinpoint the fact that Abel had, in effect, been exchanged for Powers when he was returned to the Russians in Berlin on Feb. 10.

Turkish Revolt Smashed Quickly

ANKARA (AP) — A mutiny by elements might back the mutiny that brought Turkey to the brink of civil war was declared smashed today. The armed forces chiefs stood firmly by Premier Ismet Inonu.

The 78-year-old premier signalled that the bloodless revolt had been ended when he went on the air with a brief, pre-drawn announcement that his government was in command.

Reliable army sources said authorities had seized ringleaders of the brief revolt, touched off by discontent over slow progress by the three-month-old government in carrying out reforms in land allocation, taxes, education and agriculture.

A government spokesman said later that all dissident officers are being reassigned to new posts.

OTHERS STAYED LOYAL

The mutiny apparently was confined to the Signal Corps, the War Academy, an armored school and an officers' general staff school. For a time it had appeared that other army units in the uprising.

The revolt failed when chiefs of the air force, army and navy, led by Gen. Cevdet Sunay, rallied behind the premier.

The crisis forced leaders of all four political parties, including Inonu, to sign a joint declaration pledging themselves to work to salvage democracy in Turkey. They had previously been bitterly at odds.

The turning point came when the three big armies which garrison the country from the Greek border to the Soviet frontier, announced they would take orders only from Gen. Sunay. No casualties were reported in the uprising.

PM Jealous of Pearson's Prize?

DIEF FLAYED AS DEBATE CLOSES

OTTAWA (CP) — Liberal Lucien Carlin said Thursday in the Commons that Prime Minister Diefenbaker has never forgiven Opposition Leader Pearson for being awarded the Nobel peace prize in 1957.

This was only one remark in one of the most acid attacks on Mr. Diefenbaker ever heard in the Commons.

Mr. Carlin, MP for Richelieu-Verchères, said Mr. Diefenbaker's soul burns with envy toward Mr. Pearson. The prime minister cherished a secret dream of being a great international figure.

This dream had become a prime minister.

Mr. Carlin accused Mr. Diefenbaker of being a "demagogue" and of "toying with the truth."

Mr. Carlin said Mr. Diefenbaker doesn't act like a "real

Instead, he acted like a days of traditional talk allotted to the free-wheeling debate on way through paper walls and the address from the throne, open doorways and then waiting for applause."

Mr. Carlin went on to say Quebec had come too close to a dictatorship under the late premier Maurice Duplessis to permit Mr. Diefenbaker to try to duplicate this.

A few hours later the Commons closed its grab-bag debate on the throne speech.

With even voting, MPs politely approved a formal motion thanking Governor-General "anier for his 'gracious' speech from the throne at the session's opening January 18.

Thus they concluded the eight

Canada's Economic Policy Comes Under Heavy Fire

By GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor

Canada's fiscal and economic policies have not been getting a good press abroad lately.

Up until now, most of the criticism has come from British publications and has been mainly concentrated on trade matters.

Now, however, the U.S. national business and financial weekly, Barron's, takes up the cudgels against Canada and, in its front cover feature article, rips this nation from stem to gudgeon.

What the commentary "Playing with Fire: Canada's Economic Policies Sound an Alarm for the U.S." boils down to is nothing less than a warning to U.S. investors that Canada is becoming a poor risk nation.

Barron's chief criticism is directed to Finance Minister Fleming's manipulation of the dollar, which it calls a "debasement of the currency" which is penalizing the consumer and taxpayer, and has already touched off a flight of capital from the country.

However, it adds: "To the thoughtful observer, the erosion of the Canadian dollar is less the cause of the country's woes than a symptom of an even more deep-seated malady. For ever since they came to power, Mr. Diefenbaker's wrong-way Conservatives have been outbidding the Liberals for votes by an unprincipled resort to the easy-money, something-for-everyone technique that is all too familiar in the U.S.

SPENDING SOARS

"They have consistently indulged in deficit financing, avoiding even lip service to the idea of a balanced budget. Meanwhile, outside-the-budget spending has snowballed."

The article concludes: "For more than four years, then, Canada's Conservatives, adopting one misguided economic and fiscal policy after another, have been playing with fire."

"For much of that time, it seemed that they and the nation might somehow escape getting burned. The irresistible urge to light just one more match last summer (driving down the exchange rate), however, has touched off what threatens to become a conflagration. What will happen in the Dominion remains to be seen. In any event, the U.S. would do well

The common share issue, expected in mid-April, will be divided among the sponsoring companies with 21,000 shares each going to Interity Gas Ltd. of Winnipeg and Trans-Prairie Pipelines Ltd. of Edmonton and the balance to Pemberton Securities Ltd. of Vancouver.

The sponsoring firms will pay $9.50 a share and the Pemberton shares will be offered to the public at $10. Sixty per cent of the issue will be reserved for B.C. residents with preference going to East Kootenay residents.

Wiser's whiskies are older in virtually all cases!

Older to Wiser's means aged in wood, not merely the date-stamp on the bottle. It means "married in wood" which is a process of returning the spirits to wood after final blending—for a further period of quiet aging. It means "lighter," smoother flavour acquired naturally through patient aging. For the best whiskies, drink one that's older and Wiser's.

EXAMPLE:

Wiser's 101 in an attractive squared bottle handy for packing and storing... and 6 years old.

Wiser's well-aged whiskies: Wiser's De Luxe, 10 years old; Wiser's 101, 6 years old; Wiser's Special Blend, 4 years old.

Outfield Fine, But Garrulous Yogi Finds it Lonely

By OSCAR FREALEY

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI)—The outfield is fine for the waning years of a baseball player's career, Yogi Berra opined today, but despite the lesser labor he misses the camaraderie to be found behind the plate.

"If I had it to do all over again I'd still take catching," said Berra, who soon will be 37 and now alternates in left field because of the clutch power of his bat. "You were in the game more, kept busier, had more fun and always had somebody to talk to."

What it sums up to is that in the outfield Yogi is lonesome. "I guess that's it," he nodded. "When I was catching I could always shoot the breeze with the umpire, if there wasn't anything better to do. And I liked to give the hitters a little conversation, too. To keep their minds off what they were trying to do."

"This is my 17th spring training camp since I first came up with the Yankees," said the squat veteran who three times has been the American league's most valuable player. "Man, I tell you, it seems a long time ago."

"See that fellow there," he pointed, holding one hand out, palm down, at about waist level. "I remember him when he was that big."

The fellow was muscular Charley Keller Jr., son of a Yankee great when Yogi first broke in with the ball club. "It was quite a team," Yogi rich, Joe DiMaggio, Phil Rizzuto, Vic Raschi, Spud Chandler, Bill Bevens and a lot of other guys. And it's still quite a team."

Berra, who has been in an even dozen World Series and holds a hat full of records "although I can't think what they are" shies away from questions as to how much longer he thinks he can play.

"I'm playing it year by year," he admits under pressure. "I'll just have to wait and see what happens. But I figure to keep going at least as long as I can help the ball club."

"Everybody plays it different," Yogi pondered. "Look at DiMag down there at the end of the dugout. He probably had a few fair years left but he quit even though he still could make it. Of course, Joe had trouble with his legs but, as I say, you just have to wait and see."

Like DiMag, they won't have to hold any benefits for Yogi when he does retire, either. He has his own flourishing bowling alley in Clifton, N.J., and is a front man for a soda water outfit. Meanwhile, he's still collecting an estimated $48,000 from the Yankees, which isn't bad for a guy who had to give it up behind the bat.

At that price, even the garrulous Yogi can stand to be a bit lonely every half inning during a game.

"But it ain't nearly as much fun as it used to be," he said as he shambled away. "Not nearly."

Berra is one guy who never has enjoyed being a loner.

WING COACH COMPLAINS

Vocabulary Questioned

DETROIT (AP)—Coach Sid Abel said Thursday he has asked National Hockey League president Clarence Campbell to investigate what he says were improper actions by referee Vern Bueff in Wednesday night's Chicago-Detroit game.

Chicago won the game 6-4.

Abel said Bueff's reply to a question by one of his players (Bill Gadsby) was "obscene."

Abel also protested Bueff's learned left-winger Vic Stasiuk, officiating in the third period when Chicago scored the tying goal while the Wings were two men short because of penalties.

"The winning goal was scored on an obvious offside play," Abel said.

The Red Wing coach said he was not protesting the game but wanted Campbell to report on Bueff's actions.

The Wings got some bad news Thursday when they missed left-winger Vic Stasiuk,

STASIUK HURT

A 14-goal man, will miss at least a week of play because of a wrenched knee. A similar injury sidelined him for three weeks earlier in the season.

All teams go into action twice on the weekend. Saturday Chicago is at Detroit in an afternoon game and at night it's New York at Montreal and Boston at Toronto. Sunday, Montreal is at New York, Toronto at Detroit and Boston at Chicago.

LOS ANGELES (CP)—

The surging Los Angeles Blades have no intention of relinquishing their hold on the third and final playoff position in the Southern Division of the Western Hockey League.

The Blades made this clear to a hometown crowd of 12,800—second largest in league history—by posting a timely 2-1 win over Seattle Totems in Thursday night's only game.

Coach George Agar's club now holds a four-point lead over San Francisco Seals who occupy the Southern Division cellar. Both have 16 games remaining.

Thursday's loss was a costly one for the Totems, who blew a chance to move ahead of Calgary Stampede and into second place in the Northern Division. Calgary leads Seattle by one point but is 10 points behind the first-place Edmonton Flyers.

FIRE FIRST GOAL

Los Angeles used a pair of first-period goals by defence-man Bill Burega, his first of the season, and forward Eddie Panagabko to defeat Seattle before the huge mid-week crowd.

The league attendance record of 13,703 was also set at Los Angeles when Calgary provided the opposition on Jan. 27.

Seattle's only goal came from captain Bill MacFarland, who scored in the final minute of the second period. The Totems pressed hard for the equalizer but could not beat veteran Marcel Pelletier in the Blades' net. Referee Willie Pank handed out 32 minutes in penalties during the rough game. Seattle received 26 minutes, including a misconduct of Barney Krake.

BLACK LOSES IN FINAL

Missing with right-hand punch, Victoria's Tommy Black gets whacked on side of head by Ed Richey of Portland in lightweight final of Pacific Northwest Golden Gloves boxing tournament Friday at Seattle. Judges gave Richey decision in bristling bout. (AP Wirephoto.)

TIME TO THINK ABOUT TIMES OPEN TOURNEY

The Victoria District Golf Committee announced it will make the draw for the Vancouver Island Times Open tournament on March 20.

Qualifying round for the Island's premier golf event is March 25 and deadline for entries will be March 17. Entry forms will be published in The Times on or about March 13.

The committee, meeting this week at Gorge Vale, also decided to "better promote" National Golf Week (June 4-9) and then gave its blessing to Cedar Hill in the staging of a Public Links Open left-handers' tournament on May 21.

Three Four Under To Set Golf Pace

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Wes Ellis Jr. came in late with a four-under par 68 Thursday and tied defending champion Doug Sanders and Ed Oldfield for the first-round lead in the $30,000 Greater New Orleans Open golf tournament.

Ellis, 30, who plays out of West Caldwell, N.J., dropped a three-foot birdie putt on the final hole to tie Sanders and Oldfield for the lead.

The 29-year-old Sanders missed a great chance for sole possession of first place when he failed to sink a two and one-half-foot putt on the fourth hole.

NOT A TOURIST

Oldfield is a 28-year-old professional at Golf, Ill., who rarely joins the PGA tour.

Behind the top three came four tied at 69, including 1960 New Orleans champion Dow Finsterwald, Phil Rodgers, Ronald Miller and Bo Wininger.

Jerry Magee of Toronto shot 36-36-72 Thursday to put him in an 11-way tie for 20th place.

At Caracas, Venezuela, Tex. ans. Jacky Cupit and Ernie Vossler were tied for the opening-round lead in the 72-hole Caracas Open with three-under-par 67s.

Angel Miguel of Spain, who missed a hole-in-one on the fifth by less than a foot, was closest to the co-leaders with a 69.

Defending champion Don Whit and George Knudson of Winnipeg, winner of last week's Venezuelan Open, shared fourth place with three others at 70.

Peter Thomson of Australia equalled the Selangor course record with a seven-under-par 67 and took an early lead in the $7,000 Malayan open championship.

Kel Nagle, another Australian, had a 68 on the 6,544-yard par 74 course.

Canada's lone competitor Jack Bissegger of Val Morin, Que., shot a 71.

Ski Conditions Still Rated Good

Spring may be on the wing in Greater Victoria but for skiers the weather is just fine, thank you.

Green Mountain (near Nanaimo) still has three feet of base snow and a frosting of six inches of fresh snow—an ideal blend for weekend plankers.

The road is clear but drivers are cautioned to carry shovels and chains.

Advances ticket sale for the tourney is at 722 Yates Street. First bout will get under way at 8:30.

Dormans, Kings Leading Playoffs

Dormans defeated North-westerns 5-1 and King's beat Duncan's 6-1 to take one-game leads as the Independent Athletic Association's hockey semifinals got under way this week.

King's 39-37 upset of the leading Duncan highlighted basketball play.

Basketball league standings and results:

BASKETBALL	W	L	Pts
Duncan Garage	22	2	24
SLC Alumni	20	2	20
Painters Guild	18	4	18
King's Hotel	8	4	16

Dormans	0	13	0

Results—King's 39, Duncan 27, SLC Alumni 27, NW Creamery 35, Painters 60, BCE 25.

Cardinal Wins Tourney Crown

Larry Cardinal, punching pride of the PPCLI battalion at Work Point, today rules as middleweight king of Pacific Northwest amateur boxers.

Cardinal, Canadian army champion, Friday night captured the middleweight crown in the PNW Golden Gloves tournament at Seattle by outpointing Harold Prince George in an all-Canadian final.

Eligible to compete in the U.S. national amateur finals at Cincinnati after his victory, Cardinal defeated Bill Knox of Fort Lewis, Wash., in the semifinal.

CUT OVER EYE

Two other Victoria belters, Tommy Black and Danny MacDonald, failed to collect a title, although Black went to the final of the lightweight division before losing a decision.

He was beaten by Portland's Eddie Richey, who had previously taken titles this year at Tacoma and Portland.

MacDonald was a hard-luck loser in the semifinals of the featherweight division after taking a decision from Charlie Buss of Fort Lewis. MacDonald had to retire after 39 seconds of the first round in his semifinal against eventual winner Wade Smith of Portland when a cut was opened over the Victoria boxer's eye.

One Vancouver boxer collected a title. Mickey McMillan took the featherweight crown by outpointing Art Johnson of Fort Lewis.

Portland boxers, winners of the national team championship last year, captured five of the titles at stake.

ISLAND TOURNEY

Vancouver Island boxers will be swinging for Golden Gloves glory next Saturday at Work Point as the PPCLI hosts the annual Island Golden Gloves tournament.

Entries are expected from top fighters from the PPCLI, Victoria, Chemainus, Salt Spring and Alberni boxing clubs.

Advance ticket sale for the tourney is at 722 Yates Street. First bout will get under way at 8:30.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Anna Maria Alberghetti and Producer David Merrick, who used to have a feud, certainly don't have any feud any more. Anna Maria's agreed to a new contract which provides that she appear in "Carnival" in both Los Angeles and San Francisco for 16 weeks, starting the middle of April. Then she'd come back to New York in the show in September for another four months.

"What happened to the feud?" we were asked. The answer we got was: "The flowers worked."

Zsa Zsa Gabor and boy friend Bob Straile were pursued by the most fascinating rumors yet when they attended the opening of Huntington Hartford's Paradise Island in Nassau over the weekend. Zsa Zsa looked stunning in her multi-colored muu-muu. Tom Poston, the Peter Lind Hayes, Tony Randall, Liz Whitney, Meyer Davis, Christina Paozzoli, Florence Lustig and Johnny Meyer were among the hundreds at the greatest party I've attended in years.

Hartford invented a new game—"Paradise ping-pong"—played with a very large ball which enables you to play tennis without exercising.

In Sarasota, a woman looked at a busy picture of Jayne Mansfield (are there any other kinds?) and remarked to columnist Helen Griffith, "I don't see how anything as large as that could get lost." ... Noticing what females everywhere are doing now about their hair, Tom H. Miles, Cincinnati, says today's poet would have written it: "I just love the wind in my hair."

Frank Sinatra's "Sergeants Three" is making a bundle.

and there'll be a sequel ... Marlene Dietrich, attending "Ross," was asked if she gets anything from the TV reruns of her old films. "Only," she said, "some laughs."

Yankee mgr. Ralph Houk's calling his book "Ballplayers Are Human, Too" ... Playwrights Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse are sightseeing in Washington, digging up color for their B'way musical, "Mr. President" ...

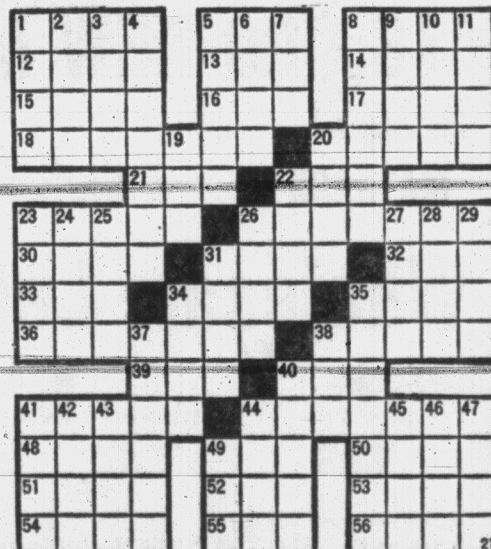

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: "Inflation is definitely here," a fellow complained. "It cost me $15 in medical bills to cure the indigestion I got from a nickel bar of candy."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: A small town's a place where you can hear a lot on the phone—even when the call isn't for you.

EARL'S PEARLS. These new super-highways are great. They get you to the next toll booth so much faster.

A father looked unhappily at his son's poor report card, and told the kid: "Well, anyway, it shows you're not cheating." ... That's Earl, brother.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions by adults to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Phillip Lyte, 8, Brookview, N.Y., for his question:

Does the Sun Really Draw Water?

This is the story of an elevator, the biggest elevator in the world. The mighty motor which powers this elevator is the sun. The freight taken up and down on the elevator is water. And billions and billions of tons of water ride up and come down on this elevator every day. But our eyes cannot see the tiny details which make it work. However, scientists can explain these tiny details to us.

On a summer morning, the ground is often drenched with dew. By mid-morning, the grass is dry and all the diamond dewdrops have gone. On a warm day, a line of soaking wet laundry may be quite dry by noon. We say that all this moisture has evaporated or dried up and disappeared.

We take it for granted that wet water dries up and disappears on a sunny day. But what happens, and where does it go? To understand this, we must learn something about water. We must learn some facts that our eyes can not see. Water, like everything else around us, is made of tiny molecules. We cannot see these bitsy particles because in every dewdrop there are trillions and trillions of water molecules.

Molecules are very energetic little particles, rushing around in all directions. The warmer they get, the faster they zoom around. In a drop of liquid water, they slither and slide between each other but they are not travelling fast enough to pull apart from each other. They cling together like a row of children playing crack-the-whip.

But give them a little more heat, and they go faster. With enough heat they can speed fast enough to pull apart and go off separately. Then the liquid water turns to molecules of vapor, which is an invisible gas. Off they zoom to mingle with the other gases of the air. This is what happens when the dewdrops disappear and the laundry dries on the line.

Zoom Into Air as Gas

The heat which turns the moisture into gas comes from the smiling sun. It beams down on the face of the sea, on the rivers, the lakes and all the puddles. It gives warmth and the molecules of wet moisture use this energy to get up more speed. Soon they become molecules of gas and zoom up into the air. The sun draws water up into the air like a mighty elevator. Every day it draws up billions of tons of moisture from the wet surfaces of the earth.

The elevator ride is not over when the water vapor gets up into the air. Sooner or later, it is changed back again into wet droplets, the misty droplets from which the clouds are made. The cloud drifts along until its wet droplets get too heavy to float in the air. Then the liquid water must catch the downward elevator and the land and sea are pelted with falling raindrops.

Andy sends a Hammond's Nature Atlas of America to Louie Gabella, age-nine, of Cleveland, Ohio, for his question:

How deep is the earth?

Maybe you have heard that a deep hole right through the world to China. This, of course, is a fanciful idea, but it makes you wonder how deep the ground below our feet actually is. Well, there is no need to worry at all about falling through a hole to China. It just could not happen.

The earth is a big round ball. A line through the middle is almost 8,000 miles long—twice the distance across North America. The inside of the Big Ball is a mass of seething hot metal, or so we think. Actually, no one has been down there to see because we cannot even dig through the crusty layers of rocks on the surface. This crusty layer is 20 to 30 miles deep—the centre of the great globe is 4,000 miles under your feet.

Pay Hikes For 7,000

OTTAWA (CP)—Salary increases for 7,000 federal civil servants in the professional and related classes were announced Thursday by the Civil Service Commission.

The increases, retroactive to July 1, 1961, cover 400 classes and grades of civil servants and range from $1,000 per year down to a few dollars. In a few professional classes no increases were warranted, says the announcement.

Majority of the increases are in the $100-$500-a-year bracket, although several are higher. Foreign service officers of the external affairs department will get a $1,000 increase to $19,000.

Included are engineers, economists, statisticians, lawyers, doctors, scientists, meteorologists and various inspectors. They received their last salary increase Oct. 1, 1960.

The latest increases are the first under a new system of cyclical salary reviews announced recently by Finance Minister Fleming.

COURTHOUSE CHAMPION IN PREMIERE

The man who championed a new law courts for Victoria is going to be a lawyer appearing in the first case heard there next Monday.

Alan Macfarlane (L. Oak Bay) told the legislature Wednesday that former Victoria MLA George Gregory would be one of the lawyers involved in the case.

He said that credit was due Mr. Gregory for being the champion of the cause which finally resulted in the new Blanshard Street law courts.

Mr. Macfarlane said he agreed with the suggestion of Victoria Social Credit MLA Waldo Skillings that the old courthouse in Bastion Square should become a maritime museum.

BEDLAM IN LEGISLATURE

Waldo's Jokes, Pokes Provoke Opposition

Victoria's Sacred Waldo Skillings chided the Opposition Thursday for debating everything but the budget, then spent most of his 15-minute speech on two jokes and pokes at other MLAs.

Mr. Skillings talked about poetry, the four winds, Government House, the courthouse. He suggested that Opposition

Leader Robert Strachan's post was in danger of being taken by a fellow NDP-CCF'er; that Tony Gargrave (NDP-CCF-Mackenzie) has misled the public; attacked the four Liberal MLAs and accused Leg Nimsick (NDP-CCF-Cranbrook) of being "sneaky."

Most of his speech was lost in a general bedlam of laughter, protest and mock indignation.

These points emerged: Government House should

BY HOUSE COMMITTEE

Rough Reception Given Gas Firms

Gas companies and service station operators clashed on closing hours before a legislative committee Thursday night; and the gas-men got a rough ride from MLAs.

The municipal affairs committee was hearing briefs on the issue with a possibility of recommending new legislation. The Automotive Retailers' Association, representing 1400 dealers, called for tightening restrictions with strict local bylaws governing all-night operations.

The Petroleum Industry Committee, representing seven major gas companies, said stations should be open whenever the public wants them and whenever their operators request.

PROFIT QUESTIONS

MLAs asked some probing questions on how much profit the companies made and whether they were dictating hours of business to the retailers.

Dave Barrett (NDP-CCF-Dewdney) asked gas company spokesman Jack Baskerville of British American Oil Co. whether he represented a monopoly, and what wholesale prices the companies charged.

"We are not permitted to discuss price," was the reply. Donald Smith (SC-Victoria) asked: "Why do the oil companies want to interfere?"

He said it should be up to the retailers to ask for closing hours, not their bosses.

The gas companies claimed there were 3,102 service stations in B.C. and the retailers organization only a minority group.

"We want to know whether you're representing a substantial number of dealers or whether you're representing the oil companies only," said Alan Macfarlane (Lib.-Oak Bay).

"Do oil companies require operators to stay open during hours they don't want to?" asked Mr. Smith.

COUNSELLED

"We counsel them," said Mr. Baskerville.

He said in some case hours of operation were written into leases granted to the operators.

When Mr. Barrett asked if he could categorically deny there was no dictation, Mr. Baskerville said "No".

The ARA brief asked that the Municipal Act set out 6 p.m. closing, with local councils allowed to grant extensions to 7 p.m. in winter and 9 p.m. in summer.

Permits for longer hours would be awarded to not more than 10 per cent of the operators. They would be rotated among competitors. Further extensions would be granted if 75 per cent of local operators petitioned them.

The gas men replied: "It is unjustifiable that one group of dealers who wish to close early empowered to demand regulations closing other service stations catering to entirely different trade."

"Each dealer should be permitted to set hours which in his opinion will meet public convenience and can be economically justified for each particular location," said their brief.

Rotation of late-hour permits would mean sending customers to a competitor.

The brief termed the ARA proposals "detrimental to the interest of a majority of the dealers and the general public."

New legislation would restrict free competition and would also bankrupt dealers in choice locations who would be forced to close early.

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—Nome, a fabled spot in the Alaska gold rush of '98, may be hit by the gold fever again.

17-Year-Old Wonders: What
To Do for Bags Under Eyes

Q. "Please try to answer this in your column. I am 17 and have bags under my eyes. How can I get rid of these?"

A. At 17 you certainly should not have bags under your eyes. You should have stars in them. This suggests to my mind, not enough sleep, allergies, not enough exercise, or malnutrition because of not eating correctly. I also think that you should see your family physician if you are not imagining this and really do have bags under your eyes.

Q. "Can you please advise in your column about the correct way to use eye make-up? I hate to admit to others not knowing how. What is the best way to use an eyebrow pencil, individual lines or heavy coloring in? Do you use mascara on the lower lashes? Some girls get their eyes outlined so dark all around."

A. Some girls get their eyes outlined too dark all around and spoil their beauty. Unless you are going on the stage, or want to look like something from Mars (well, maybe they have some good-looking gals there and we soon will be having them here as weekend guests), do not use a liner or pencil at the base of your lower lashes. I think it is much better not to use mascara on the lower lashes.

Outside of lipstick, which nearly everyone uses, eye make-up can do the most for a woman. It can make a tremendous difference in the way she looks, but it should be used subtly.

Having the little brush too wet is one of the most usual mistakes women make when applying mascara. The brush should be almost dry—or just damp. Otherwise, you glue your lashes together in bunches.

Use an eyebrow pencil with short, light, feathery strokes and then blend the color with your finger or a small brush—never a hard line or a deep filling-in of color.

Q. "Do you think it is dangerous for someone past 40 to do the Twist? I am 45."

A. Well, I know some people quite a bit older than 45 who do the Twist without penalty! However, more and more doctors are reporting cases of injury in their Twist-minded patients, and warn that anyone from middle age on should be conservative. Take it easy!

Plan Events — Plans were made at recent meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Pro Patria Branch No. 31, Royal Canadian Legion, for a birthday banquet to be held March 6, at 1 p.m. in the St. Andrew's Presbyterian, Kirk Hall, and for a pot luck supper on March 10 in the club rooms, 625 Courtney St. Five new members were welcomed: Mrs. L. The corresponding sleeved yoke in back is buttoned. Little pleats at the waist release ease into the bodice and over the hips, creating a gently rounded silhouette. To further emphasize the disarmingly pretty look of the fashion picture this season, the stiffened contour belt is finished off with soft tie ends that join in a perky bow. Choose sheer wool, silk or rayon crepe, double knit jersey, tissue flannel, shantung, raw silk, linen or novelty cottons. From these corresponding body measurements select the one size best for you. DEAR ABBY...

She Made a Tough Bargain!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have a cuckoo 24-year-old daughter who is so good-looking people are always asking her how come she isn't in pictures or on television. She is going with a man of a different religion. He told her that as long as his mother is alive, she shouldn't expect marriage. The dummy says she is satisfied to wait. How can a mother convince her daughter she is throwing her life away? She won't listen to me.

MOTHER OF A SAP

DEAR MOTHER: She won't listen to me, either. Pray that she'll smarten up one of these days and realize that she has agreed to the longest wait in the world. It may not be forever, but it will seem like it.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to know what a wife should do when her husband rolls over, hugs, kisses her and calls her by another woman's name in his sleep.

My husband did this and when I asked him about it he said he can't help what he dreams. I say a person dreams about what he has done. Am I wrong or not?

FORTY

DEAR FORTY: There is no telling what a person "dreams about". It can be something he "has done, something he wishes to do, something he has never done or something he would never do." Don't hold a man responsible for what he dreams if he behaves himself when he's awake.

DEAR ABBY: I read somewhere that you were 43 years old. So how come you use your high school graduation picture with your column? I think you're trying to mislead your public.

WILFRED

DEAR WILFRED: My picture is comparatively recent, and I think you're a living doll.

How is the world treating you? Unload your problems on Abby, care of this paper.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send 50c to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

IT'S A STORY

Gentennial Needs This Expert

By PAT DUFOUR

The city's missing a good bet if it doesn't take advantage of the "know how" of Miss Margaret Kier, secretary of the centennial committee.

She has been with the committee since its birth last July with her duties mainly restricted to answering the phone and tickling the keys of a typewriter.

This, in spite of the fact that the field of public relations and organization has been her forte for many years.

Before coming to Victoria in 1960, Miss Kier led a fast-moving life that saw her tackling anything from running the secretarial service at the Canadian International Trade Fair in Toronto, her own public relations bureau, radio commentaries, organizing 1,000 men conventions and working for British diplomats in Washington, D.C., during the Second World War.

She even managed to squeeze in a two-year stint with the WRCS as well.

"The latter was a real eye-opener for this versatile woman. I ended up as a writer in Ottawa. I became lost in the shuffle and practically did nothing for two whole years."

WORKED IN EAST

Although she's travelled all over Canada most of her operations were based in Toronto. With such a chequered career, Miss Kier has become used to finding herself in off-beat situations such as the one that found her being chased around her desk at the trade fair, energetically pursued by a black-skinned Indian.

"He was a representative of an Indian firm that made cricket bats and was so grateful for the help he received from me that he was determined to give me a 'good-bye' kiss before he left."

She was so enthused about Canada's economic development after completing one cross-country tour that she financed a radio series that became a success overnight. Another radio travel series saw her encouraging business girls to know their country better by spending their holidays travelling to points east and west.

But her favorite memories are of the public relations bureau she owned in Toronto. "Public relations is a 'natural' for the feminine nature. Women are creative, gifted with more imagination than many men and often have the added practicality and thoroughness needed to carry an assignment through to a successful climax."

WOMEN WELCOMED

She emphasized that there were many "top-notch" men in public relations work in eastern Canada but added that they were very much aware of the advantage of having women in the field.

"But," she adds a little wistfully, "it's a different story when you come west. From Calgary on the 'land of opportunity' is a different story."

She's not advocate for all women ending up as "career girls," reiterating that the duties of being a housewife and mother are the most important on the list. "But," she stresses, "when women do compete in the commercial field—they should be given an even break."

What brought this dynamic woman west? "I've always wanted to live by the sea, and was determined to 'make it' sometime."

Miss Kier confesses that, although strictly in the "office help" category in the centennial office, her head "is crammed with ideas that would help put this year's celebrations over in a big way."

Here's hoping that someone will take the time to sit down and consider them.

Honeymoon Planned in Hawaii

Shortly after PO George Claude Gendre, RCN, and Margaret Mary Crowell exchanged vows in the Queen of Peace Church last weekend the groom left in his ship, HMCS Sussexvale, for a spring cruise. Mrs. Gendre will join him in Honolulu in late March for a two-week honeymoon.

Fr. L. MacLellan officiated at the ceremony which united the daughter of Mrs. Jack Karagianis, 872 Parklands Drive, and Edward Crowell, Toronto, the son of Mr. and Mrs. U. Gendre of St. Claude, Man. The church was decorated with tulips and daffodils.

White satin in ballerina-length formed the gown worn by the bride. The neckline had a V front and back, and sleeves were in three-quarter length. Embroidered bows were highlight. Tiny bows and sequins trimmed the veil that misted from a coronet of sequins. An orchid centred the bouquet of pink carnations.

PINK AND BLUE

Matron of honor, Mrs. David Crowell, chose a sheath gown in pink brocade. Matching gown in blue brocade was worn by bridesmaid, Mrs. Leslie Karagianis. Both had headpieces of white net and flowers to match their gowns and carried bouquets of Liberae pink carnations and white heather.

Seven-year-old Linda Karagianis was flower girl in a full-skirted frock of yellow brocade. Brown-eyed Susans and white heather were in the basket she carried. She was escorted up the aisle by seven-year-old Stephen Draginaga.

George Watney was best man and Robert Waters ushered guests to their pews. Organist was Mrs. Arthur Smith.

Pink gladioli and carnations flanked the three-tier wedding cake that centred the head table at a reception in Holyrood House. Ron Karagianis proposed the toast to the bride. When she leaves for Hawaii next month the bride will wear a moss green suit and matching accessories.

Miles-Burnett Vows Exchanged

White gladioli, blue iris, pink carnations and heather decorated St. John's Anglican Church when Canon George Biddle officiated at the wedding of Patricia Doreen Miles and James Edward Burnett. Parents of the principals are Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Miles, 3354 Cedar Hill Road, and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh J. Burnett, 1052 Topaz Avenue.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a classic floor-length gown of pure silk tissue taffeta. Full skirt swept back to a train and fitted bodice was highlighted with a large bow at back of dropped waistline, giving a bustle effect. Iridescent sequins and seed pearls sparkled on the lace appliques that edged the scalloped neckline and trimmed the lily-point sleeves and skirt. They also trimmed the chapel-length veil of silk illusion net that misted from a dainty Juliet net and lace headpiece that was topped with a net rose. Bouquet was of red roses and white carnations.

Salmon pink lustre satin gowns in ballerina-length were chosen by the trio of attendants, maid of honor, Miss Jill Mutter, and bridesmaids, the Misses Elizabeth Miles and Barbara Burnett. They wore white accessories and toning headpieces of roses, and carried colonial bouquets of white carnations and pink sweetheart rosebuds.

Fred. McFadden was best man and ushers were Dave Simmons and Sid Loughheed. All were in naval uniform.

W. A. (Bert) Pearson proposed the toast to the bride at a reception held in the Golden Slipper Supper Club. Red roses were on the head table which was centred with a three-tier wedding cake, decorated in grape design and topped with tiny wedding bells.

Leaving on a honeymoon motor trip through state of Washington the bride donned a tangerine knitted dress and hat and coat in pink shade. Wedding ring neckline of coat was trimmed with mink. Accessories were brown and corsage-toned with the dress. Newlyweds will make their home in Victoria.

HELP YOUR CHILD SUCCEED IN SCHOOL

Ignite the 'Interest Centres'

By LESLIE J. NASON, D. ED.
University of Southern California

Our grandparents had a pertinent saying: "The Lord pays thread to the web, begun." It means once you start a web, the threads gravitate to it. It certainly is so with learning. If we learn enough about a new subject, additional information about it pops up from every side. And when it doesn't pop up, we are interested enough to go after it. Knowledge forms interest centres in the brain. Ideas fit together to form patterns of thought. Thinking becomes a pleasure and makes more complete patterns.

New ideas are absorbed into the patterns through the process of thought. "Let me think about it awhile," we say when we are confronted with a new idea. We need time to see if the new idea fits into any of our patterns.

Real centres of interest are formed by this kind of thinking. It is not the fact that we have information about a subject, but the fact that the web or pattern is becoming established in our minds that makes thinking about this subject a pleasure.

The more we know, the more we want to know. The larger and more varied our centres of knowledge, the larger and more varied the areas for adding further knowledge.

Listen Helpfully

When your child puts ideas into his own words, he is "thinking" them into patterns of thought. Listen to him. Let him tell you his ideas. When you listen helpfully and expectantly you help him assimilate ideas.

Help your child enlarge interest areas with correct answers and the new information he needs to complete his thought patterns. As his pattern of knowledge grows, he absorbs information faster and more successfully.

If a student makes himself pay attention to a subject such as biology or mathematics until he knows a lot about it, an interest centre forms in his mind. Then the more he learns about it, the more interesting the subject becomes.

You Can Help

Parents can help their children become interested in school subjects.

If a boy shows no interest in history, encourage him to make a real effort to learn a lot about history—even more than the teacher assigns for a few days. As his knowledge of history grows it will take less effort for him to turn his mind to it. In this way he can "force" himself to gain a real interest in almost any subject.

The task and the challenge of parents is to fan interest, but not to blow it out. Too much information obtained with too little thinking can lead to rejection rather than interest.

A teacher I know was delighted when a heretofore listless, disinterested youngster in her class expressed some interest in penguins.

"Wonderful!" she rejoiced. Straightaway she went to the school library and brought back an armload of books about penguins. The boy opened the first book, leafed through it laid it down. Ditto, the second. Then he turned away.

Lead, Don't Force

"I thought you said you were interested in penguins!" she said.

"I did," he admitted, "but there's a whole lot more here than I want to know about penguins!"

Beware of "too-much-about-penguins" procedures. Our role as parents and teachers is to lead, not force. If the youngsters themselves are willing to make that first effort, interest will follow.

NEXT: Encourage your child's special talents.

Benefit Dance Planned For Burned-Out Couple

Victoria Chinatown Lions Club is organizing a relief fund and dance for the benefit of a family of seven burned out of their Pembroke Street home last Saturday.

The dance will be held on Saturday from 8 p.m. to midnight at the Chinese Consolidated Benevolent Association Hall, Fisgard Street.

Left homeless after the early morning fire at 713 Pembroke last week were Mr. and Mrs. Sue Ping Lee and their children Susan, 12; Bob, 10; Wallace, 8; Jack, 2; and Roxanne, 10 months.

They have been staying with relatives.

The Lees lost nearly all their possessions in the blaze. Nothing was insured.

Marilyn Hasn't Given Up

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Marilyn Monroe, a three-time loser in the field of matrimony, says she hasn't given up trying.

"I'm keeping my eyes open," the blonde movie star told a press conference Thursday.

The actress, here on vacation, said she is happy that her latest former spouse, playwright Arthur Miller, has remarried.

"I learned a lot from him and I'm glad," she said. "I wish him the best." Miller married Austrian-born photographer Ingeborg Morath last weekend.

Asked about recurring rumors that she might rewed baseball great Joe DiMaggio whom she saw this week in Florida, Miss Monroe shook her head.

"We tried that once," she said.

She commented that even though her three previous marriages had failed, "I haven't given up."

"Which of your marriages were the happiest?" one reporter asked.

"The last two," she said.

Miss Monroe was married at 16 to a merchant seaman, Jim Dougherty. The union lasted two years.

BONANZA TV BROTHERS HURT

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Two television personalities who came a cropper in a horse chase scene for a television western put the series out of schedule today.

Dan Blocker, 33, "Boss" of the Bonanza series, and his TV brother, Pernell Roberts, 32, who plays Adam, were injured during the sequence filming Thursday at a ranch in the San Fernando Valley.

An NBC spokesman said Roberts' mount fell and Blocker's went over him. A bone specialist, Dr. Jack Mosheim, said Blocker suffered a fractured left collar bone and Roberts sprains and neck muscles. Blocker will be in a cast for four weeks, the physician said.

Marriage Called Off

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Frank Sinatra and Juliet Prowse said Thursday they are not going to be married after all.

In a joint statement they said a conflict of career interests existed.

Veteran Actor Dead

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Halliwell Hobbes, 84, a British character actor who retired six years ago because of a heart ailment, died Tuesday. Hobbes appeared with Mrs. Patrick Campbell and Ellen Terry on the British stage before he came to the United States in 1923. His screen career started in 1929.

Ex-Safecracker Willing To Marry Nudist Couple

An offer to conduct a wedding ceremony at a nudist camp near Victoria has been made by Herbert E. Wilson, 89, of Vancouver, a reformed safecracker who spent many years in the penitentiary.

Mr. Wilson, formerly known as "King of the Safecrackers," said he is willing to officiate at the wedding of Julia Todd Woods, 42, and Albert Young, 47, both of Victoria, who are members of the Sol Sante Club at Cobble Hill.

They plan to get married at the nudist camp this summer if they can find a minister to perform the ceremony.

According to Mr. Wilson he can legally conduct the service. A former minister at the First Baptist Church of San Diego in 1914, he claims he has never been uprocked since resigning his pastorate 48 years ago.

BRITISH ATOMIC TEST SCHEDULED IN NEVADA

LONDON (AP)—The United Kingdom Atomic Energy Authority said today Britain will explode a nuclear device underground in Nevada "during the next week or two."

The device is understood to be a component of a nuclear warhead. The explosion will be in the low kiloton range.

The blast will be Britain's first atomic test in four years.

U.K.'S V-BOMBERS AS GOOD AS ANY

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain's nuclear-armed V-bomber force is capable of reaching its target and causing "devastating" damage to an enemy in the event of war, Air Minister Julian Amery reported today.

Amery made the statement in a memorandum accompanying the annual air force financial estimates to Parliament for 1962-63.

The bombers, flying fast and high and equipped with the latest electronic devices to counter enemy defences, "compare favorably with the bomber aircraft which constitute the main nuclear striking force of other powers," he said.

INSISTS ON SUMMIT

K's Letter Dampens Hope Of Agreement

WASHINGTON (AP) — A tough new 20-page message from Soviet Premier Khrushchev, insisting that President Kennedy agree to a March summit meeting, chilled U.S. hopes today for any kind of successful negotiations with Russia at the forthcoming Geneva conference.

The letter, delivered to the state department Thursday, also raised grave suspicion among officials here that Khrushchev is trying to use the approaching conference as a device to prevent Kennedy from ordering a new series of atmospheric nuclear tests.

The state department forwarded an English translation of the letter to the White House late Thursday a little more than two hours after Kennedy left for Florida. Presumably, his special assistant, McGeorge Bundy, relayed it to the president immediately.

The United States planned to start immediate consultation with Britain and other allies on a Kennedy reply to Khrushchev turning down his latest summit bid. The state department formally rejected Khrushchev's insistent urging in a statement Thursday night.

The statement said the U.S. government feels its proposal to open disarmament talks with

WIRE BRIEFS

TCA to Hike Fares

OVER BORDER

Youngest brother of the U.S. president, Edward (Ted) Kennedy, today paid an unscheduled two-hour visit to East Berlin and had American officials worried for a time. ## Bereaved Man Target Of Fluoride Foes

VANCOUVER (CP)—A father told a coroner's inquiry today that after his three-year-old son died suddenly in a dentist's chair he was mailed anti-fluoridation pamphlets from the Pure Food Guild of British Columbia and anonymous crank letters from anti-fluoridationists.

After the testimony Thursday by William Tonner whose son Christopher died while under anesthesia in the office of dentist Dr. T. R. Elliott Feb. 13, coroner Glen McDonald said mailing of the pamphlets was the act of a "despicable person."

He said he would hand the anonymous and crank letters to police, including one from Kingston, Ont., inquiring how much fluorine young Christopher had received.

Pure Foods Guild President Edward Moxey told reporters later that he had mailed the pamphlets to Mr. Tonner after reading of the boy's death.

Tonner, who said his son had received liquid fluorine every day to protect his teeth, quoted one letter as saying: "You and thousands of others are condemning your children to an early death by these ungodly methods."

Pathologist Dr. T. R. Harmon said an autopsy showed no buildup or trace of fluorine in the boy's vital organs.

'Fiery Splinters Raced By'

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. reported today he had a "spectacular re-entry" through the atmosphere which gave him an "uneasy moment" near the end of his triple orbit flight about the earth Tuesday.

He said he was concerned because he did not know whether fiery splinters racing past his window were from a disintegrating reverse-rocket package or from a damaged heat shield.

The latter would have been disastrous, because the heat shield was his major protection from being consumed in the fiery re-entry heat of between 3,000 and 4,000 degrees.

Glenn told a press conference that a trouble signal toward the end of the flight convinced Project Mercury officials he should leave the braking rockets in place at the blunt front end of the capsule to be sure that he did not lose what at the time appeared to be a loose heat shield. The heat shield protects the space craft from burning up during the enormous friction and heat in re-entering the atmosphere.

As it turned out later, there was no danger. A false signal had been received at the control centre.

But it provided a "spectacular re-entry," Glenn said. The straps which held the braking rockets in place broke loose as the capsule dropped into the earth's atmosphere and Glenn felt a bump on the side of the capsule.

Looking out his window he saw a bright orange glow as the front of the capsule heated up.

He saw pieces of the retro or braking rockets flowing past his window—some as big as the end of a finger—others up to eight inches long and all of them flaming as they broke off the front edge of the capsule.

He earlier told the conference that he had suffered no ill effects during the prolonged weightlessness of his orbital flight.

In fact, he said, "it was very pleasant."

"I had no trouble at all reaching switches or controlling the capsule in zero gravity weightlessness," he said. As an example, he said, about 30 or 45 minutes after launching he was taking pictures with a hand camera and wanted to do some switch work.

"I simply put the camera out and let it float in mid-air, inside the capsule. I did the switch work and then went back to the camera."

100,000 Cheer Astronaut Hero

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—President Kennedy gave astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. a medal today for his historic flight around the world and said for the American people, "we appreciate it."

It was a simple ceremony before Hangar S, the area where the 40-year-old marine lieutenant-colonel lived and trained for his flight Tuesday three times around the world in four hours and 56 minutes.

Afterwards, Glenn and the president stood before the museum-bound space capsule "Friendship 7," and Glenn told Kennedy of his flight, especially the re-entry phase.

In presenting Glenn the Distinguished Service Medal of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Kennedy said "17 years ago the marines planted the American flag on Mount Suribachi (two Jims) and maybe in the not too distant future, Col. Glenn and the marine corps, or a navy man or an airman will plant the American flag on the moon."

He gave a similar medal to Robert R. Gilruth, Project Mercury director.

After meeting at the Cape Canaveral air strip, Kennedy and Glenn toured the space port.

To greet the president, Glenn rode 18 miles from Patrick Air Force Base to this space centre.

It was reported unofficially that the chief cause of the breakdown was what the union considers as completely inadequate a company job security proposal.

The company presented a package proposal, still not made public, a month ago. The unions have been considering this proposal since then and entered today's meeting seeking clarification of several points.

Frank Hall, veteran leader of the non-ops negotiating team, rejoined the talks after a brief absence caused by a minor illness while he was visiting a son in Galveston, Tex.

The non-ops, employees not involved in the actual running of trains, originally demanded a virtual job freeze, a 22-cent-an-hour wage increase and other fringe benefits. They now earn an average of $1.91 an hour.

A brief outline of the railroads' proposals said the railroads would give severance pay to all employees with more than eight, but less than 20 years' service who were laid off for more than one month.

For employees with more than 20 years' seniority, the railroads would guarantee work or income.

An indefinite wage increase was "contemplated" provided the work security program, severance pay and improvements in health and welfare benefits could be agreed upon.

This fell far short of the union demands.

Argue in as Liberal Says Ottawa Report

(Times Ottawa Bureau)

OTTAWA — The Liberal caucus met today to consider Hazen Argue's entry into party ranks and Opposition Leader Pearson scheduled a press conference later today.

It appeared certain that Mr. Argue has been accepted as a Liberal MP.

Earlier today, Mr. Pearson and Mr. Argue held private talks.

The meeting with Mr. Pearson was held at Mr. Argue's request.

"It was our first direct contact. I have never before talked or met with Mr. Argue about his plans to leave the New Democratic Party," said Mr. Pearson.

"The meeting was at my request," Mr. Argue declared. "We discussed the situation. While no formal arrangements have been made there will be further developments and I will let you know as soon as we are ready to make an announcement."

RAIL TALKS COLLAPSE

MONTREAL (CP)—Contract talks between Canada's railroads and their 110,000 non-operating employees have collapsed, it was learned today.

No details of the breakdown were made public immediately, but it was expected that the 15 CLC-affiliated non-ops unions will seek a federal conciliation to study the dispute.

The breakdown came almost without warning.

Company and union negotiating teams resumed talks at 10 a.m. EST today and both parties stalked out of the room 50 minutes later.

Both groups immediately left for their respective headquarters to draft statements.

JOB SECURITY CAUSE?

It was reported unofficially that the chief cause of the breakdown was what the union considers as completely inadequate a company job security proposal.

The company presented a package proposal, still not made public, a month ago.

The unions have been considering this proposal since then and entered today's meeting seeking clarification of several points.

French, Moslem Officers Bitter

Times News Services

ALGIERS—Both French and Moslem officers reacted bitterly today to a government plan to demobilize 140,000 Algerian Moslems wearing the French uniform.

The government move was an obvious sign of its confidence that an Algerian cease-fire is imminent. But it posed a possible internal crisis in the French Army in Algeria at a time when it faces a test by the right-wing European Secret Army Organization, pledged to keep Algeria French.

The Algerian rebel national council, meanwhile, met in secret session in Tripoli, Libya, for the second day to consider the tentative accord with France for a cease-fire clearing the way for Algerian independence. France endorsed the accord Wednesday night.

President Charles de Gaulle's government announced plans Thursday for progressive demobilization of Moslems serving in the French Army and said they will be given bonuses and pensions and offered the opportunity to re-enlist or resettle in France.

WOULD GUARD RIGHTS

Gen. Charles Ailleret, the supreme commander in Algeria, vowed that the "legitimate interests" of Moslems who have served France will be guaranteed. But the announcement was seen as a personal tragedy for many Moslem soldiers.

"They're paying us off, we are no longer needed," bitterly commented one Moslem officer. In Oran today new clashes erupted between Europeans and Moslems after Moslems cut the throats of three Europeans and a fellow Moslem.

Power Showdown Planned By Tshombe, UN Charges

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP)—The United Nations accused President Moise Tshombe today of preparing for a new military showdown in the Congo.

It expressed doubt that the Katanga president's good faith in seeking a peaceful settlement with the rest of the Congo.

In sharp departure from a recent atmosphere of conciliation and confidence concerning Katanga, the UN said Tshombe's military action in North Katanga violates conditions laid down by the United Nations.

Reliable sources said the central government is airlifting troops toward the north Katanga town of Albertville in anticipation of an all-out attack by Katanga gendarmes. Tshombe's troops reoccupied the town of Kongolo early this week after central government forces had withdrawn.

The UN said it intends to send a military mission to Kongolo without delay despite Tshombe's opposition.

The United Nations charges were made in a sarcastic and tough statement handed to reporters by headquarters spokesman Dirk Lehmkuhl.

"It has become noticeable that Mr. Tshombe's conciliatory attitude is giving way to calculated opposition to UN policies and actions in Katanga," it said. It charged Tshombe with:

"Having the (Katanga) assembly neither accept nor reject the Katanga declaration (to end Katanga secession) but ask for further negotiations based on the 'spirit of the declaration'."

"Reactivating a general merger operations in North Katanga while refusing movement of UN troops into Kipushi, Kolwezi and Jadotville to prevent the reentry of mercenaries."

Centennial Flashback . . . THIS DAY IN VICTORIA - 1862

FEBRUARY 23
It was reported here that the Barclay Sound copper claim had been "jumped" by speculators, who have preempted the land on either side of the island on which the vein is located. The original prospectors intend to appeal to the governor to quash the re-emption.

The copper claim on the southern end of Queen Charlotte's Island appears to be faring better, as the schooner Alpha has been chartered to take 12 experienced miners and supplies to the workings. Included in the Alpha's cargo will be 3,700 feet of lumber, to be used in building cabins for the miners.

A concert for the benefit of the Royal Hospital is scheduled for tomorrow evening, under the patronage of Capt. Spencer and officers of HMS Topaze.

Smash-Grab Thieves Take Watches, Cash

Crowbar, Rock Wielded

Smash-and-grab thieves made off with money and watches in two break-ins early today.

Hit in pre-dawn burglaries were Little and Taylor Jewellers, 1209 Douglas, and Goodwill Enterprises, 560 Yates.

Stolen from the front window of the jewelry store were three Tissot watches, valued at between $60 and $75. Entry was made to the showcase by a small rock, 2½ inches in diameter.

The quarter-inch plate glass window was shattered just enough for a hand to reach through and remove the goods.

The broken window was first noticed by the janitor of the business establishment adjacent to Little and Taylor's and he called police at 7:45 a.m.

Use of a crowbar provided entry into the rear of Goodwill Enterprises where a fund box and $186.78 were stolen.

A large safe in the premises was dragged from its position in the back of an office and cracked into.

Trustee Spouting 'Nonsense' On School Names Says Nesbitt

Greater Victoria School Board's refusal this week to name schools after early Victorians drew a sharp rebuke today.

Local historian and chairman of the Centennial Pioneer's Committee, James K. Nesbitt, said the board's refusal to name schools after famous people "is one reason why American children know more about their history than our children know about Canadian history."

AROUSES CURIOSITY

Mr. Nesbitt pointed out in the United States most schools are named for famous people. "Children are naturally curious and if their school is named for a person, they want to know all about that person, and so they come to learn something of their history," he said.

Mr. Nesbitt had written a letter to the school board suggesting that Central Junior High School be renamed after Thomas Harris, Victoria's first mayor, and that another school be renamed after Amos de Cosmos, B.C.'s second premier.

Trustees turned down the request, stating it was board policy not to name schools after people, living or dead.

GOOD CHOICES

But "what about Sir James Douglas, Samuel J. Willis, Margaret Jenkins, George Jay, F. T. Fairley?" asked Mr. Nesbitt. "They were good choices. I would say the school boards that chose them showed more broad mindedness and vision than the present school board."

School trustee Richard Reeve came under attack for saying that he doubted if any man remained famous more than 20 years after his death.

HELPED SAVE FRIEND

Saanich Boy Nominated For 'Y' Heroism Award

A nine-year-old Saanich boy may receive the YMCA's heroic service award for his part in saving a companion from drowning last year.

He has been nominated by the Victoria "Y" on the recommendation of physical director Art Burgess.

Douglas Pigot, 2451 Camelot, with two Cub Scout friends supported Robert McFetridge, 12, of 2694 Sinclair, in Cadboro Bay waters Aug. 23 until an adult came to the rescue.

The Cubs, David R. Highstead, 10, of 2447 Camelot, and Mark E. Bailey, 9, of 2555 Kilgarry, have been awarded meritorious conduct certificates by Canada's Chief Scout, Governor-General Georges P. Vanier, but Pigot is not a member of that movement.

Highstead has also been nominated for the heroic service award. He also is a member of the YMCA.

Pigot is a pupil of "Y" swim coach, Archie McKinnon.

The three boys used an unusual, but effective method of keeping McFetridge afloat.

It's Decorous Beige, White For City Hall

When women want to put on their prettiest face for a party they use a little paint and that's what City Hall plans to do for centennial year.

And it hopes that all the other "plain Janes" among the downtown buildings will follow suit.

Ald. A. W. Toone, this morning announced that a beige and white combination has been selected for decorating the City Hall bricks.

Beige will be used on the body of the building, while the white will be used to accentuate the wealth of "gingerbread" so often unnoticed by passersby.

COST $2,000

Tender call for the work, expected to be about $2,000, is returnable in two weeks.

"The color scheme is pleasing and dignified and we expect it to have a salutary effect on the downtown area," said Ald. Toone.

"If the business people in the downtown area follow our lead, it will have a tremendous impact in brightening up the city."

He pointed out that many architectural gems—the older the more appropriate for a centennial celebration—could be turned into outstanding landmarks with imaginative use of color.

New paints are now available for use on brick and stonework and they could transform several shabby business blocks into delightful avenues if merchants made a relatively small outlay, he pointed out.

Contract Awarded For Home

Bruce A. Cooke was the successful bidder among eight Victoria construction companies for a contract to build a third unit on the United Church's Gorge View low-rental housing development, it was announced today.

He submitted a bid of $37,955 for construction of an eight-suite building, entirely for widows, on the five-acre Harriet and Irma site. Construction will start immediately.

ROOM FOR 132

Other buildings on the site, eventually to hold 18 to house about 132 senior citizens, are six-suite constructions for two married couples and four single suites.

Bids closed on Thursday, 4.30 p.m., in the offices of Wade, Stockhill and Armour, architects for the society.

Other tenders were: Luney Brothers and Hamilton, $46,184; G. H. Wheaton, $45,697; E. J. Hunter and Sons, $42,910; Herb Bate Ltd., $40,838; Heath Construction, $38,808; H. E. Fowler and Sons, $41,711; and Farmer Construction, $44,470.

Ultra-Modern Animal Home Off Burnside

Construction this year of one of the most modern-designed animal shelters in North America is planned by the Victoria branch, Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

It will be erected at the corner of Burnside and Napier Lane, replacing the present shelter on Wilson Street.

Initial cost of the building will be about $30,000 but it will be so constructed to permit expansion when the need arises for additional space.

The society at its annual meeting last week gave its executive the green light to go ahead with the project and plans for the shelter are now being drawn up by architect Clive D. Campbell.

A spokesman for the society said plans call for one of the most up-to-date shelters on the continent.

LACK OF SPACE

"The design includes the latest development for this type of building and work," he said.

Norman H. Stephens, secretary-manager, said the society's decision to build a new shelter is prompted by the lack of space in the existing building. It can only provide accommodation for about 50 dogs and 24 cats at one time.

"The volume of work is also increasing rapidly," he said. "Last year a total of 5,519 animals were admitted to the shelter for care, adoption and disposal," he said.

HAVE TO MOVE

He also said the Wilson Street shelter is located on government property and it is only a matter of time when the society will have to remove its building from the site.

At the annual meeting, Capt. J. D. Prentice was elected president; W. L. Leach, first vice-president; M. Mirams-Harrison, second vice-president; Mrs. M. H. Aldersmith, third vice-president; Mrs. L. A. Inman, recording secretary; K. Watts, treasurer.

U.S. Sub Here Next Monday

The United States submarine USS Charr will pay an overnight visit to Esquimalt harbor next week, arriving at 3 p.m. Monday and leaving Tuesday morning.

The Charr will be berthed on the HMCS Naden side of the harbor. She is a Balao class boat, with a complement of eight officers and 79 men. She is visiting Vancouver at present, having arrived there last Tuesday.

At least 5,000 spectators are expected to attend a public preview May 11 of the annual trooping the color ceremony by the First Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry.

The preview, identical in almost every detail to the actual ceremony scheduled for May 12, will be held on the parade square at Work Point Barracks.

For the occasion, the garrison gates will be opened to the public. Grandstand seats will be on a first-come basis and there will be ample standing room.

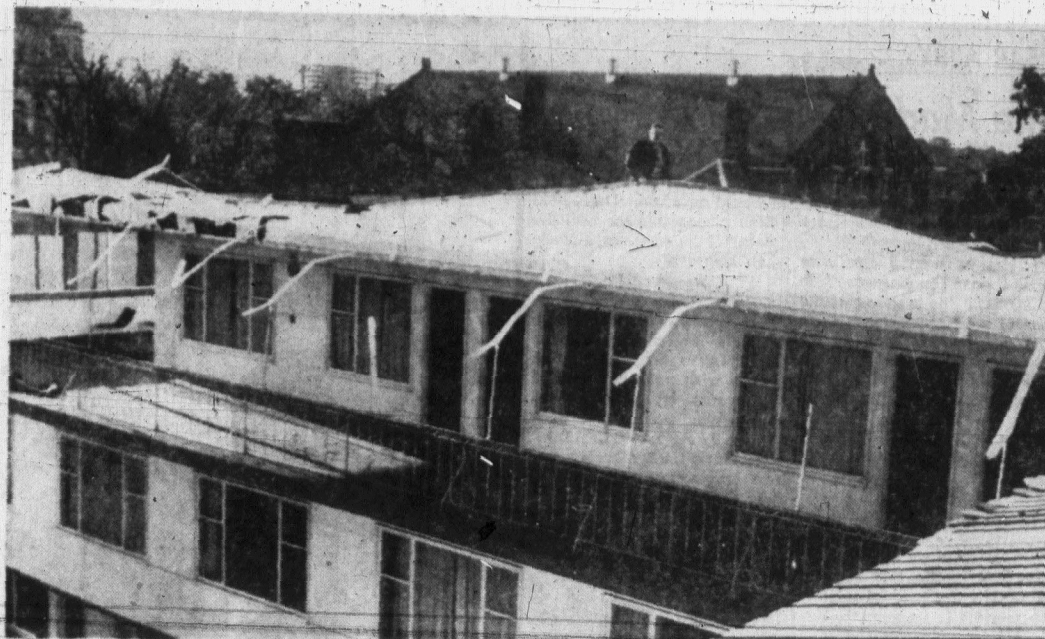

The parade itself will be open only to invited guests, but the only difference from the preview will be the salute, taken by Major-General J. M. Rockingham, general officer commanding Western Command.

A meeting of the Esquimalt Golden Age Club will be held Wednesday at 2 p.m. in the community hall.

A meeting of the View Royal Garden Club will be held Wednesday at 8:15 p.m. in the community hall.

GRADUATES of a Greater Victoria Night School cake-decorating class run by Mrs. K. D. Sims, 3428 Davidson Street, proudly display the fruits of their labors. The cakes, and their decorators, are on display at the Quadra Safeway store today and Saturday. The decorators are (left to right) Mrs. V. Smith, Mrs. J. Wishart, Mrs. W. Sims, Mrs. R. ## AWNING LOSES AGAIN TO 62-MPH GUSTS Arctic winds which reached 62 miles per hour in gusts at 7 a.m. today ripped metal awning from Embassy Court for second time in two weeks. Damage is surveyed by Eric Jones, manager. Temperature plunged to 33 degrees overnight, and minimum tonight will range between 25 and 30 degrees.

Winds will continue strong tonight and early Saturday, and clear skies will continue through Sunday, according to weatherman William Mackie. (Times Photo by Irving Strickland.)

... HERE ... AND THERE

With NORMAN CRIBBENS

I was surprised to read in a local church paper that the Canadian Peace Research Institute, founded by Dr. Norman Alcock, is regarded as "a fatuous way of wasting time."

A scribe calling himself The Man Behind the Pillar has taken off on this subject in the current issue of The Anvil, published by Christ Church Cathedral.

"Here," he says, "is a learned scientist... busily stumping the country for money so that he can find out the causes of war and suggest remedies."

"And a number of good folk are deluded enough to fall for the meretricious manner in which he preaches. Did he but know it, he is preaching what the Church has been preaching for the last 1,962 years."

"The only trouble with this doubtful good, but singularly inept, man is that he is so imbued with the deadly sin of pride that he believes in his own infallible rightness. 'It causes me pain to see his time (and others' money) wasted in such a silly superstitious way.'"

I imagine this outburst will raise a few eyebrows among church folk... and elsewhere.

Another controversial idea: The Roman alphabet should be scrapped and replaced by shorthand stenography, says Dennis Pearce, official court reporter at Victoria Courthouse.

Before the Appeal Court opened last Wednesday, Mr. Pearce lectured lawyers on the need for a new written language.

"Why should our children waste their time learning all these difficult spellings when they could write words as fast as they are spoken?"

Victoria and Vancouver advocates listened with interest when he said:

"Why should we spell out the word 'the' when it can be represented on paper by a mere dot on the line? The nation which simplifies its written language will rule the world."

Will the English skylark leave Victoria? Freeman King, president of our Natural History Society, is afraid the funfey bird may be scared out of these parts if we don't stop putting up apartment blocks and new shopping centres.

"The skylark chooses open country and shies away from buildings," Mr. King said. "On the other hand, it likes the Victoria climate and won't go Up-Island. It won't have anything to do with Duncan."

Where will the skylark go if there is too much building around Gordon Head? Mr. King isn't sure, but there is a horrible suspicion it may seek U.S. citizenship.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

In fairly good condition at Royal Jubilee Hospital is 85-year-old Mrs. O. W. Smith, 1720 Beach Drive, after being in collision with a police cruiser at Oak Bay Avenue and Monterey Thursday afternoon.

ASK The TIMES

Q. Will you give me the geological name and formation of the common rock found on the surface and surrounding district of Beacon Hill Park? Also, what is the curious trenchlike rounded sides and bottoms usually running north to south seen on the surface of the rocky outcrops? F.A.B.

A. The rock formation is known as Wark Gneiss. Originally sedimentary, it has been metamorphosed to a fine-grained consistency until it is almost like granite. The grooves are the result of heavy glaciation in the area and the marked rock formation is known as "roche moutonnée."

Q. Is Marion Lorne on the Garry Moore Show, Garry Moore's wife? D.S.

A. No. She is actress Marion Lorne of "Harvey" fame.

GLENN'S PERSONAL STORY

Rail, Union
Talks
Collapse

MONTREAL (CP)—Contract talks between Canada's railways and their 110,000 non-operating employees have collapsed, it was learned today.

No details of the breakdown were made public immediately, but it was expected that the 13 CLC-affiliated non-ops unions will seek a federal conciliation to study the dispute.

The breakdown came almost without warning.

Company and union negotiating teams resumed talks at 10 a.m. EST today and both parties stalked out of the room 50 minutes later.

Both groups immediately left for their respective headquarters to draft statements.

JOB SECURITY CAUSE?

It was reported unofficially that the chief cause of the breakdown was what the union considers as completely inadequate a company job security proposal.

The company presented a package proposal, still not made public, a month ago.

The unions have been considering this proposal since then and entered today's meeting seeking clarification of several points.

Frank Hall, veteran leader of the non-ops negotiating team, rejoined the talks after a brief absence caused by a minor illness while he was visiting a son in Galveston, Tex.

The non-ops employees not involved in the actual running of trains, originally demanded a virtual job freeze, a 22-cent-an-hour wage increase and other fringe benefits. They now earn an average of $1.91 an hour.

A brief outline of the railways' proposals said the railways would give severance pay to all employees with more than eight, but less than 20, years' service who were laid off for more than one month.

For employees with more than 20 years' seniority, the railways would guarantee work or income.

An indefinite wage increase was "contemplated" provided the work security program, severance pay and improvements in health and welfare benefits could be agreed upon.

This fell far short of the union demands.

TCA to Hike Fares

MONTREAL (UPI)—Trans-Canada Air Lines today announced plans to raise fares on domestic flights to make up for "a year of substantial losses," President Gordon R. McGregor said the increases, subject to government approval, would range from $1 to $16 and probably go into effect April 1.

Power Showdown Planned
By Tshombe, UN Charges

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP)—The United Nations accused President Moïse Tshombe today of preparing for a new military showdown in the Congo.

It expressed doubt at the Katanga president's good faith in seeking a peaceful settlement with the rest of the Congo.

In sharp departure from a recent atmosphere of conciliation and confidence concerning Katanga, the UN said Tshombe's military action in North Katanga violates conditions laid down by the United Nations.

MOSCOW (AP)—Russia disclosed today it has taken a major step to tighten and improve its economic planning.

In a front-page editorial, the Communist party newspaper Pravda said "councils of co-ordination and planning" have been established in all of the country's major economic regions, except the virgin land territories of Kazakhstan.

SEE CONTROL CENTRE

On the cape area tour the president and Glenn first stopped at Project Mercury control centre.

This was the president's first visit to the space and missile centre and he appeared to ask a number of questions about how this place, jammed with electronic consoles, worked.

For Glenn the huge reception by admiring countrymen was only a taste of things to come. He is to be given a mammoth welcome in Washington.

'Uneasy Moment'
At Re-Entry Time

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. reported today he had a "spectacular re-entry" through the atmosphere which gave him an "uneasy moment" near the end of his triple orbit flight about the earth Tuesday.

He said he was concerned because he did not know whether fiery splinters racing past his window were from a disintegrating reverse rocket package or from a damaged heat shield.

The latter would have been disastrous, because the heat shield was his major protection from being consumed in the fiery re-entry heat of between 3,000 and 4,000 degrees.

Glenn told a press conference that a trouble signal toward the end of the flight

Front of Capsule Heated Up

But it provided a "spectacular re-entry," Glenn said. The straps which held the braking rockets in place broke loose as the capsule dropped into the earth's atmosphere and Glenn felt a bump on the side of the capsule.

Looking out his window he saw a bright orange glow as the front of the capsule heated up.

He saw pieces of the retro or braking rockets flowing past his window—some as big as the end of a finger—others up to eight inches long and all of them flaming as they broke off the front edge of the capsule.

He earlier told the conference that he had suffered no ill effects during the prolonged weightlessness of his orbital flight.

Four Sunsets in One Day

Glenn called his experience on Tuesday "quite a day."

"It's something to see four beautiful sunsets all in one day—three of them from the space capsule and another when I had been picked up by a ship," he said.

Glenn said the stories he had heard about his problems during 10 postmonements before his spacecraft was launched were "gross misconceptions."

There were no any problems, Glenn said, because "all I had to do was sit back and hone a sharper edge for the flight... I had the easiest job."

Glenn said his Atlas booster rocket worked perfectly on launch day and put him into an accurate orbit. He called a message from fellow astronaut Alan B. Shepard Jr., on the ground some of the greatest words he has ever heard.

Shepard's message to Glenn in the capsule was: "You have a seven-orbit capability."

Soviet cosmonaut Gherman Titov reported spacesickness during his 11-orbit flight last August, particularly when he moved his head, Glenn noted. But the first U.S. astronaut to orbit the earth said he moved his head vigorously back and forth near the end of his flight and still induced no ill effects.

Glenn had one other thing to say against weightlessness. He let go of a little roll of film, happened to bat it with his hand, and it sailed behind the instrument panel.

"That's the last I saw of it," he said.

Glenn said that when he saw his parachute open on his return to earth, it was the "prettiest little old sight you ever saw in your life." He said his capsule got hot on re-entry into the atmosphere.

"I was sweating very profusely when I came down so I remained very still to add as little heat to it as I could."

"I had been heated up enough and sweated profusely enough, so when on deck thought I should get on out, so I blew the hatch," he said.

He could have left the capsule during his 11-orbit flight last August, particularly when he

K's Letter

Dampens Hope

Of Agreement

WASHINGTON (AP)—A tough new 20-page message from Soviet Premier Khrushchev, insisting that President Kennedy agree to a March summit meeting, chilled U.S. hopes today for any kind of successful negotiations with Russia at the forthcoming Geneva conference.

The letter, delivered to the state department Thursday, also raised grave suspicion among officials here that Khrushchev is trying to use the approaching conference as a device to prevent Kennedy from ordering a new series of atmospheric nuclear tests.

The state department forwarded an English translation of the letter to the White House late Thursday a little more than two hours after Kennedy left for Florida. Presumably, his special assistant, McGeorge Bundy, relayed it to the president immediately.

The United States planned to start immediate consultation with Britain and other allies on a Kennedy reply to Khrushchev's bid. The state department formally rejected Khrushchev's insistence in a statement Thursday night.

The statement said the U.S. government feels its proposal to open disarmament talks with
